Knoll Gets Treat

The Cohasset Barbershop Chorus performed at the Cohasset Knoll Nursing Home last week as part of the Home's observance of National Nursing Home Week.

Bryan Marks, director of the Barbershop Chorus, coaches these junior and senior high school students and has developed a delightful repertoire of songs arranged in four-part harmony. Many of the songs were tunes familiar to the residents, who enjoyed hearing them sung in this style of arrangement.

Four of the members of the chorus comprise a Barbershop Quartet and they sang a few selections that included solos and a lively performance from the opera Rigoletto. The chorus brought props along to use as convincing accompaniments to some of their songs.

After singing in the main living room, the Chorus sang their songs in the hallways enabling those residents unable to attend the large group to hear them sing. The singers were pleasant, congenial and eager to meet the residents.

It was a lovely morning for all the residents and as the Chorus was leaving they were invited back to perform again. The students are a wonderful group and brightened up everyone's day.

The Knoll Nursing Home staff extends their thanks to Bryan Marks and to all the members of the Barbershop Chorus for providing a morning of song and laughter, and for helping to make National Nursing Home week a success.
